Scripture Reading: 1 Chronicles 28:20

I enjoy this passage from Chronicles because it gives me instruction and direction for my life. In many ways, I am frequently in a state of confusion and reflection when it comes to my life's purpose and my spiritual journey with Christ. While I KNOW that the Lord has plans for me and my family (as well as each and every person on earth), these thoughts frequently enter my mind: "Am I living my life according to God's will?" "If I were to go in front of my Maker today, would He be pleased with my life?" "What work would He have me do to fulfill his purpose for my life here?"

I recently watched a special on the survivors of the Hudson River plane crash. Overwhelmingly, the interviewed passengers felt as though they had so many things that they still wanted to accomplish with their time here on earth. One thing I know is this: we all are only here temporarily. Perhaps, we can learn from their experience and not take one single day for granted. Let us be diligent in living for God and sharing His love!

Prayer: Holy Trinity, please instill a peace in my heart. Show me the path that you would have me travel and empower me to take it. Place within me the wisdom of Solomon, so that I will persevere through the trials and understand the purpose of the tests that you place throughout my journey. Give me enough pain, so that I am compassionate and remember those less fortunate. Finally, Lord, please bless my life with the adventure, excitement and new challenges that stir within me passion. I ask this knowing that "if we ask any thing according to His will, He heareth us" (1 John 5:14).
